A Fixture Paper About Figures

Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 0.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 1.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 2.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 3.

Figure 1: A blue box drawn with vector graphics, standing in for a plot.

Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 0.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 1.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 2.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 3.

Figure 2: This caption has no graphics above it, so it should be ignored.

Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 0.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 1.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 2.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 3.

Figure 3 shows the result of this approach across all of the datasets we studied.

Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 0.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 1.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 2.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 3.

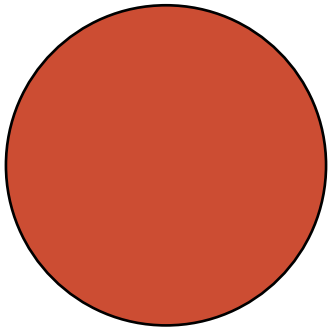

Figure 3.1. A red circle with a dotted figure number in its caption text, which also wraps onto a second line.

Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 0.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 1.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 2.
Body text that runs across the whole column so it reads as ordinary prose in the paper, line 3.